There was great anxiety to get inside the Court House, though but very few, comparatively, gained admittance. The stairway leading to the U.S. a Court Room (which is in the second story,) was guarded by a detachment of U.S. Marines, with muskets, and the large number who were denied admittance to the Court Room on account of its crowded condition, made the task of preserving peace without infringing upon the rights of the citizens, a delicate and difficult one. Repeatedly were the marines called upon to clear the passage way, and some hot words passed but no blows were given, though some rather rebelled at coming of

Shortly after the death of Mr. Batchelder, Coroner Smith took charge of the body, and will hold an inquest to-day.

By order of the Mayor the Boston Artillery and the Columbian Artillery were ordered out, and ubout midnight they took quarters in the City Hall, where they remained during the night, waiting further orders.

Printed notices were also left in every church pulpit this merning requesting that prayers be officed for the escape of Burns from his oppressors.

The friends of freedom are very active in getting up secret meetings. Large delegations are expected to-morrow from Salem, Worcoster, New-Bedford and other places. One thousand pistols, principally revolvers, are said to have been sold by dealers on Saturday. A very large crowd remained in the vicinity of the Court House at last night.
